RE: NMSF DIGITAL MOTORSPORT-SIM RACING ACCREDITATION

With Digital Motorsport giving SIM Racers the chance to move into real-world racing, Digital Motorsport is becoming a motorsport activity in its own right, offering some thrilling action that has captured the interest of players across the globe.

Because of the close cross over between Motorsport and Digital Racing this has given Federations in conjunction with the FIA unique opportunities to further Digital Motorsport as a parallel activity to its on track and rally championships.

The FIA has partnered with digital game makers and have created an official SIM racing world championship and the FIA Rally Star program will utilize the digital platform as a selection process to find the next world rally champion.

In view of the above, the NMSF requests SIM racers wishing to contest FIA digital disciplines to register with the NMSF and to receive an accreditation. By receiving this accreditation, the federation will be able to vouch your authenticity to the FIA and to create a database. Said database will be utilized to provide a licensing platform which will allow SIM Racers to, through its affiliate body, the NMSF, compete in these FIA sanctioned events.

In doing so, we provide access to recognized competitions and/or championships for SIM Racers to showcase their skill.

We urge all clubs to circulate this very important communication to its members to ensure you offer your members the opportunity to be part of this very exciting world.
